An improper integral

In using a linear partial fraction decomposition, why are we able to use values of x which are non-permissible values?