

Number of solutions to a system of linear equations

Prove that it is impossible for a system of linear equations to have more than 1 but finitely many solutions. Hint: suppose  $(x_1, \dots, x_n)$  and  $(y_1, \dots, y_n)$  are distinct solutions. Show that there are then infinitely many solutions.